Artist statement

I am Mimo Warty, a visual artist working in the Helsinki metropolitan area. At the centre of my practice are relatable moments and the ways in which everyday experiences can open into universal emotions.

My work is guided by continuous observation and an interest in cultural and human layers. The knowledge and research underlying my practice do not appear in the works as direct references, but subtly deepen their themes. I paint with oil on canvas, and through my work I seek to invite the viewer to pause, recognize something from their own experience, and find a moment that connects the individual to a broader story.
